REGATTA AT HENLEY

TO TAKE PLACE JULY 6

King and Queen Will Attend in Their "Ancient Red and Gold State Barge."

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY.

HENLEY REGATTA, which is to take place on July 6 next, will be a grand affair indeed.

The barge, which is to be given out, it is announced that the King and Queen will be present in their "ancient red and gold state barge." This gorgeous vessel is 225 years old, for, according to the brass plate attached to its prow, it was built by King William III. for Queen Mary II. in 1689. It is constructed of oak, is about forty feet long, and is propelled by twelve rowers, arranged in six pairs, with the royal cipher in gold on the breast, blue breeches, buckled shoes and velvet caps, of the jockey pattern, but much heavier and deeper. The barge is to be rowed by twelve who are fortunate enough to be able to attend the regatta will probably be interested to observe whether William III. and his consort were as good as their word when they vowed to put together more than two centuries ago, and over the stern there is a canopy with rich silk hangings, embroidered by a guilded crown. Those who are fortunate enough to be able to attend the regatta will probably be interested to observe whether William III. and his consort were as good as their word when they vowed to put together more than two centuries ago, and over the stern there is a canopy with rich silk hangings, embroidered by a guilded crown.
